

Respond:

I think you bring up a good point about how companies collect data for advertisement. I think it is important to protect the privacy of users. One concern I have is corporations holding so much data corresponding to their users. If the data is identifiable to a specific person, that data has the potential to endanger that person and take away the person's privacy. I think user privacy is very important for cyberspace to be a freer and more enjoyable place.

—